

Televised Religion

Session 5

Friday, October 10

3:00-5:00

Eastwoods Room (Level 2)

Religion remains decidedly under-represented in secular television even while religious-based networks are proliferating. Considering that the majority of Americans claim to believe in a higher power, how is religion represented—or not represented—on television and how does television shape our understanding of religion in the 21st century?